

The Sun in my Face

I remember driving to work in the morning and having the sun shining so brightly in my face. The sun was so bright that it was hard to see how to drive. I could feel the warmth from the sun on my face. I went to reach for my sunglasses and to put the sun visor down. As I did, I thought about our love ones that have gone on before us, now not being able to see the sun rise every morning. I thought about our ancestors being trapped on boats coming across shores not being able to see sunlight for days. I think about those individuals who are blind and do not have the opportunities to see the sun. All these things made me think about what the sun represents; new beginnings, life, a rising and shining. I now embrace the sun in my face each morning. I know the sun shining in my face is another chance; a new start; a new beginning that the SON has given to me to rise above all circumstances and shine in all opportunities and to make a difference in this world. So my brother and my sister embrace the SON and walk into your purpose. The light may be bright but it is to keep you on your path to true destiny. Take the sunglasses off and embrace the sun in your face.

—© Copyright 2008, Minister Adreania G. McMillan